

ETHIOPIA

Kore Dumpsite

- We serve people who live in and near Kore or Koshe, which means “dirty” in Amharic. This dumpsite holds the trash of 6 million people living in or near Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia. About 3,500 people work at this dumpsite.
- Ethiopia is one of the poorest countries on earth, with an average annual household income of $1,020. Healthcare remains a challenge, and in Kore in particular. Cases of leprosy and tuberculosis are present and infectious diseases like measles, malaria, and HIV/AIDS are a significant threat.
- Through a donor-sponsored holistic scholarship program, we’re empowering children to change their futures.

Instead of picking through trash, our Samaritan Scholars are in school, picking future careers.

You can watch how Leyla’s life has changed since her son received a holistic scholarship with International Samaritan. bit.ly/Leyla-story

Selam Terefe, East Africa Regional Director

Selam has years of experience in international development and aid. Her education and career have given her a thorough and in-depth knowledge of gender, legal, social, and political issues of East Africa with a special focus on Ethiopia. Selam is passionate about development in Africa and a strong believer in effective partnerships.

Program Started:
2011

Samaritan Scholars:
264

Community Projects:

Clean water, Weingartz Family Life Center, Milling project, small business loans

All donations, 100%, go straight to our programs around the world. Thanks to the planning of our founders and board members, all overhead and outreach costs are covered by our endowment.